

How to get from Frankfurt Airport to Mannheim Hbf

When you arrive at Frankfurt Airport, you can directly take a train to Mannheim main station.

1. Figure out on which terminal you arrived.

If you arrived on Terminal 1 (red), you are in luck since the train station is in the same terminal.

If you arrived on Terminal 2, you need to get to Terminal 1. Therefore, take the free bus shuttle in front of the terminal (red circle) after you received your luggage.

2. Get to the Fernbahnhof

In order to get to the train station, look for the sign of Deutsche Bahn

Make sure to get to the Fernbahnhof and NOT to the Regionalbahnhof since there are trains for short distances.

3. Buy a train ticket

1. Go to the ticket machine. They look like this →
2. Follow the instructions on the screen and change the language to English.
3. Your departing train station is Frankfurt Flughafen Fernbahnhof (do not select Frankfurt HBF)
Your arriving station is Mannheim HBF
4. Choose an ICE Train, as this is the best option. Choose a “Flexpreis” ticket if you want a City-ticket automatically included. The ticket will cost around 30 Euros. You can verify you have a City-ticket by checking your train ticket: it should have the inscription “+City”. It gives you the possibility to take the public transports in Mannheim once without buying an additional ticket. You can also choose “Sparpreis”, but it doesn’t include a City Ticket and binds you to the exact train you have chosen (no possibility to take a train at a different time with this ticket)

5. Find the platform on your ticket.
6. There should be an electronic display with the number of the train. Compare it with the number of the train listed on your ticket.

7. Get on your train. ICE trains look like this →
8. You do not have to show your ticket when you enter. There will be an officer from the Deutsche Bahn checking your ticket during the ride.
9. Mannheim should be the first stop

10. If you get off the train, go in the direction of City Bahnhofshalle (do not go to Lindenhof)
