THE UNIVERSITY OF MANNHEIM

The City of Mannheim and Its University

Studying in and around the "Schloss" (palace) and living in the "Quadrate" (squares): this is what awaits those studying in Mannheim.

The city lies at the confluence of the Rhine and Neckar rivers between Pfalz (Palatinate) and Odenwald at the borders of three "Bundesländer" (federal states): Baden-Württemberg, Rheinland-Pfalz, and Hessen. About 330,000 people live in Mannheim, and besides the university there are several technical colleges and research facilities. The historical center of the town is the Baroque "Schloss", which today makes up the largest part of the University. The symmetrical layout of the town arises from its methodical construction in the 18th century and is the source of initial confusion to newcomers when they see 'L9,6', instead of a street name in addresses.

Mannheim is the modern, lively center of the Rhine-Neckar three "Bundesländer" border and is a hub for heavy industry and many medium-sized firms. Mannheim is attractive, not only for its convenient location amidst scenic countryside, picturesque and historic cities and towns. The diverse cultural scene offers something for all tastes – the National Theatre is well known outside of Mannheim, the city "Reiß-Museum" and the "Kunsthalle" have acquired a reputation in previous years for their spectacular exhibitions, and the state museum of "Technologie und Arbeit" was declared museum of the year in 1992 by UNESCO. A varied music scene, cinemas, and small theaters and many different types of sports are offered as well. Mannheim's scientific tradition dates from the 18th century with the founding of the Palatine Academy for Science at the Electoral Court. Both the bicycle and the automobile were invented in Mannheim – the first by Baron von Drais, the second by Carl Benz.

Today, around 12,000 students are enrolled in 5 Schools. Business Administration is still the most prevalent and internationally recognized field at the university. While the social sciences have acquired the esteem as the second most prominent field, the Schools of Law and of Humanities have also developed an excellent reputation over the years.

The university has a strong international orientation with connections to 450 partner institutions throughout the world. Moreover, 18 percent of its students come from abroad. The university is also pursuing new directions in education by taking part in different programs such as the double degree schemes in business studies, for example with Bocconi in Milan (Italy), CBS in Copenhagen (Denmark), ESSEC in Paris (France), Chengchi in Taipeh (Taiwan), NHH in Bergen (Norway), Queen's in Kingston, Ontario (Canada) and USC in South Carolina (USA). The university is housed in the Schloss and a row of neighboring buildings. It is near the train station and well connected to the local public transport system (bus, tram and train).

Our Programs

From bachelor's programs to further management education requiring several years of prior work experience: the Business School of the University of Mannheim offers academic programs at all levels.

- Bachelor's Program in Business Administration (B.Sc.)
- Mannheim Master in Management (M.Sc.)
- Various MBAs and master's programs for young professionals

Areas of Teaching & Course Offer

On our website you will find links to all of the School's departments. There you will also find more information about research fields, the professors and the lecturers.

The 36 chairs are divided into 7 Areas:

Course Choice

You can find an overview of the courses currently offered at the University of Mannheim in the online course catalog.

The following rules apply for your course choice:

There are different course formats. Most lectures are taught weekly. However, there are some intensive courses or seminars that are taught on a few single dates.

Please make sure to avoid overlapping courses. If an intensive course overlaps with a weekly lecture, please attend the intensive course and inform the instructor of the weekly lecture about your absence. In most cases, there is no mandatory attendance at the University of Mannheim.

- Bachelor / undergraduate students: Bachelor courses only (except Bachelor/ undergraduate students in their 4th year of studies)
- Master/ graduate students: Bachelor and Master courses
- At least 50% of your ECTS/credits must come from the Business School

Home university requirements should be kept in mind to guarantee that you can transfer the credits from your Mannheim courses towards your degree at home.

Course load: There is no official limit, but we recommend not taking more than 30 ECTS (credit points) per semester (full semester workload).

Exchange students coming to Mannheim need to take at least 50% of their courses from the school through which they come on exchange (i.e. Business School for our incoming exchange students). However, you can also take German language courses or one or two courses from other Schools. For taking courses at other Schools, some restrictions apply.

University-Wide Electives:

You can choose courses outside of the Business School from our list of "University-wide Electives". If you already have prior knowledge in one of the area of studies and would like to choose courses from their regular offer, you must contact the respective exchange coordinator.

Contact Hours:

Contact hours do not reflect the workload at the University of Mannheim. Our ECTS credit system does not differentiate between contact hours and independent study time. One ECTS credit equals 25 hours, which includes contact hours and independent study time. The latter is significantly higher than the contact hours and would have to be included in the total workload hours. If your home university has contact hour requirements, we kindly ask you to write us an email so that we can find a solution together.

Course Registration

At the Business School exchange students register for their courses via Portal[2] during the Welcome Week and the first week of classes. If a different/prior registration is necessary, it will be stated explicitly in the course catalog. Seats are allocated either randomly or on the principle of group prioritization, not on a first-come, first-served basis.

Please click here to find a more detailed explanation including important information on registration deadlines and accompanying exercises and/or tutorials, and click here to access a step-by-step registration guide.

Please note that course registration procedures and deadlines vary from school to school. If you intend to take courses outside the Business School, please read the respective course descriptions carefully and follow the instructions accordingly.

Please feel free to join one of our timetable support sessions during our welcome week in August (details tba via email).

Exam Registration

The exam registration procedure at the University of Mannheim probably differs from what you are used to: Here you do not only register for courses, but you need to register for all exams and assignments that you would like to take. Thereby, you confirm your participation. You can register for your exams via Portal2 under "My Studies" > "Degree Planner". Registration might vary depending on the form of assessment! In such cases, please pay attention to what is announced in the lecture.

Additional important advice:

- If you need any academic accommodations, please contact our advisor for students with disabilities or chronic illnesses (nachteilsausgleiche@uni-mannheim.de) during our regular exam registration period, so at least 4 weeks before your exams.
- You might have more than one exam on the same day (not at the same time if you register during the given period.)

Exam Preparation

During our Exam Preparation Session, we will provide you with important information on how exams are structured at our university and how to prepare for them. For most of you, our exams will probably be quite different from what you are used to. Please note that attendance is mandatory for this presentation!

Libraries

There are four different libraries and several more study spaces at the University of Mannheim. The four main libraries are located in the Schneckenhof and Ehrenhof, as well as in the A3 and A5 squares. All libraries provide students with spacious tables, sockets and lights.

The opening hours for all libraries are:

- Monday – Friday: 8 a.m. – 11 p.m.
- Saturday, Sunday & Bank Holidays: 10 a.m. – 11 p.m.
- During examination period, they open from 8 a.m. – 12 a.m. everyday.
- For a virtual tour through the libraries and study spaces, click here: https://www.bwl.uni-mannheim.de/libraries-and-study-spaces/

Important: There is a traffic light system on the website of the libraries indicating the available capacity of the different libraries.

During the examination period, the libraries are very crowded as German students prefer studying there. Therefore, there are often queues before the libraries open in the morning. If you want to study in a library during the examination period as well, please prepare to be there early.

Personal Safety Strategies

Students should follow these key safety recommendations:
