Open Position: Assistant Professorship (W1) for Accounting and Taxation

The University of Mannheim, Business School has an opening for the next possible date for an Assistant Professorship (W1) for Accounting and Taxation.

The assistant professorship is based in the Area Accounting & Taxation of the Business School. The holder of the professorship will represent the field of Accounting and Taxation in research and teaching. It is expected that the candidate has an internationally proven track record in at least one of the two fields and possesses excellent knowledge in modern quantitative research methods. The area strives to further expand its Junior Faculty, following international standards. Therefore, a high degree of cooperativeness and an international network are of high relevance. Further, the capability and willingness to hold a course in English, especially in the bachelor’s degree, and the participation in the Center for Doctoral Studies in Business (CDSB) are expected. The teaching load will initially be four semester hours per week.

Applicants have to meet the requirements of § 51 section 2 and 3 LHG of the state of Baden-Württemberg. Aside from holding a university degree and an excellent doctoral degree, pedagogical aptitude and the competency for holding an assistant professorship, proven by scientific achievements, are expected. The appointment will initially be for a period of three or four years, provided that all prerequisites of a temporary civil servant are met. In case of a positive evaluation, the professorship will be extended to a total of six years in accordance with the legal regulations (§ 51 sec. 7 and 8 LHG).

The University of Mannheim places great emphasis on the training and mentoring of students and therefore expects strong presence of its faculty. Consequently, the successful candidate is expected to be willing to move to Mannheim or the larger metropolitan area.

The University of Mannheim seeks to increase the percentage of its female faculty members in research and teaching. Thus, qualified women are especially encouraged to apply. Severely disabled applicants and women with equal qualification and aptitude for the position will be considered first.

Interested candidates should send their application including supporting documents until November 5, 2018 via e-mail or mail to the following address:
